

Williamsburg Paint Palette — Transition to Benjamin Moore

The Architectural Control Committee (ACC) has during the spring of 2022 investigated options to help homeowners select paint colors that comply with the ACC guidelines for Williamsburg colors. The guidelines state that the Williamsburg palette from Martin-Senour and the Colonial palette from McCormick exterior colors are pre-approved.

Martin-Senour has exited the retail market for house paints. Currently Benjamin Moore is the only paint manufacturer/retailer that has a legitimate Williamsburg palette. Benjamin Moore has actually invested heavily in researching and developing true colors derived from samples taken from Williamsburg properties. Benjamin Moore has been licensed by the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation and is the only paint manufacture allowed to use the Williamsburg name for its colors.

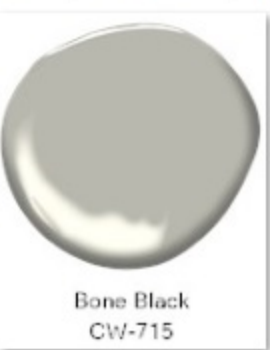

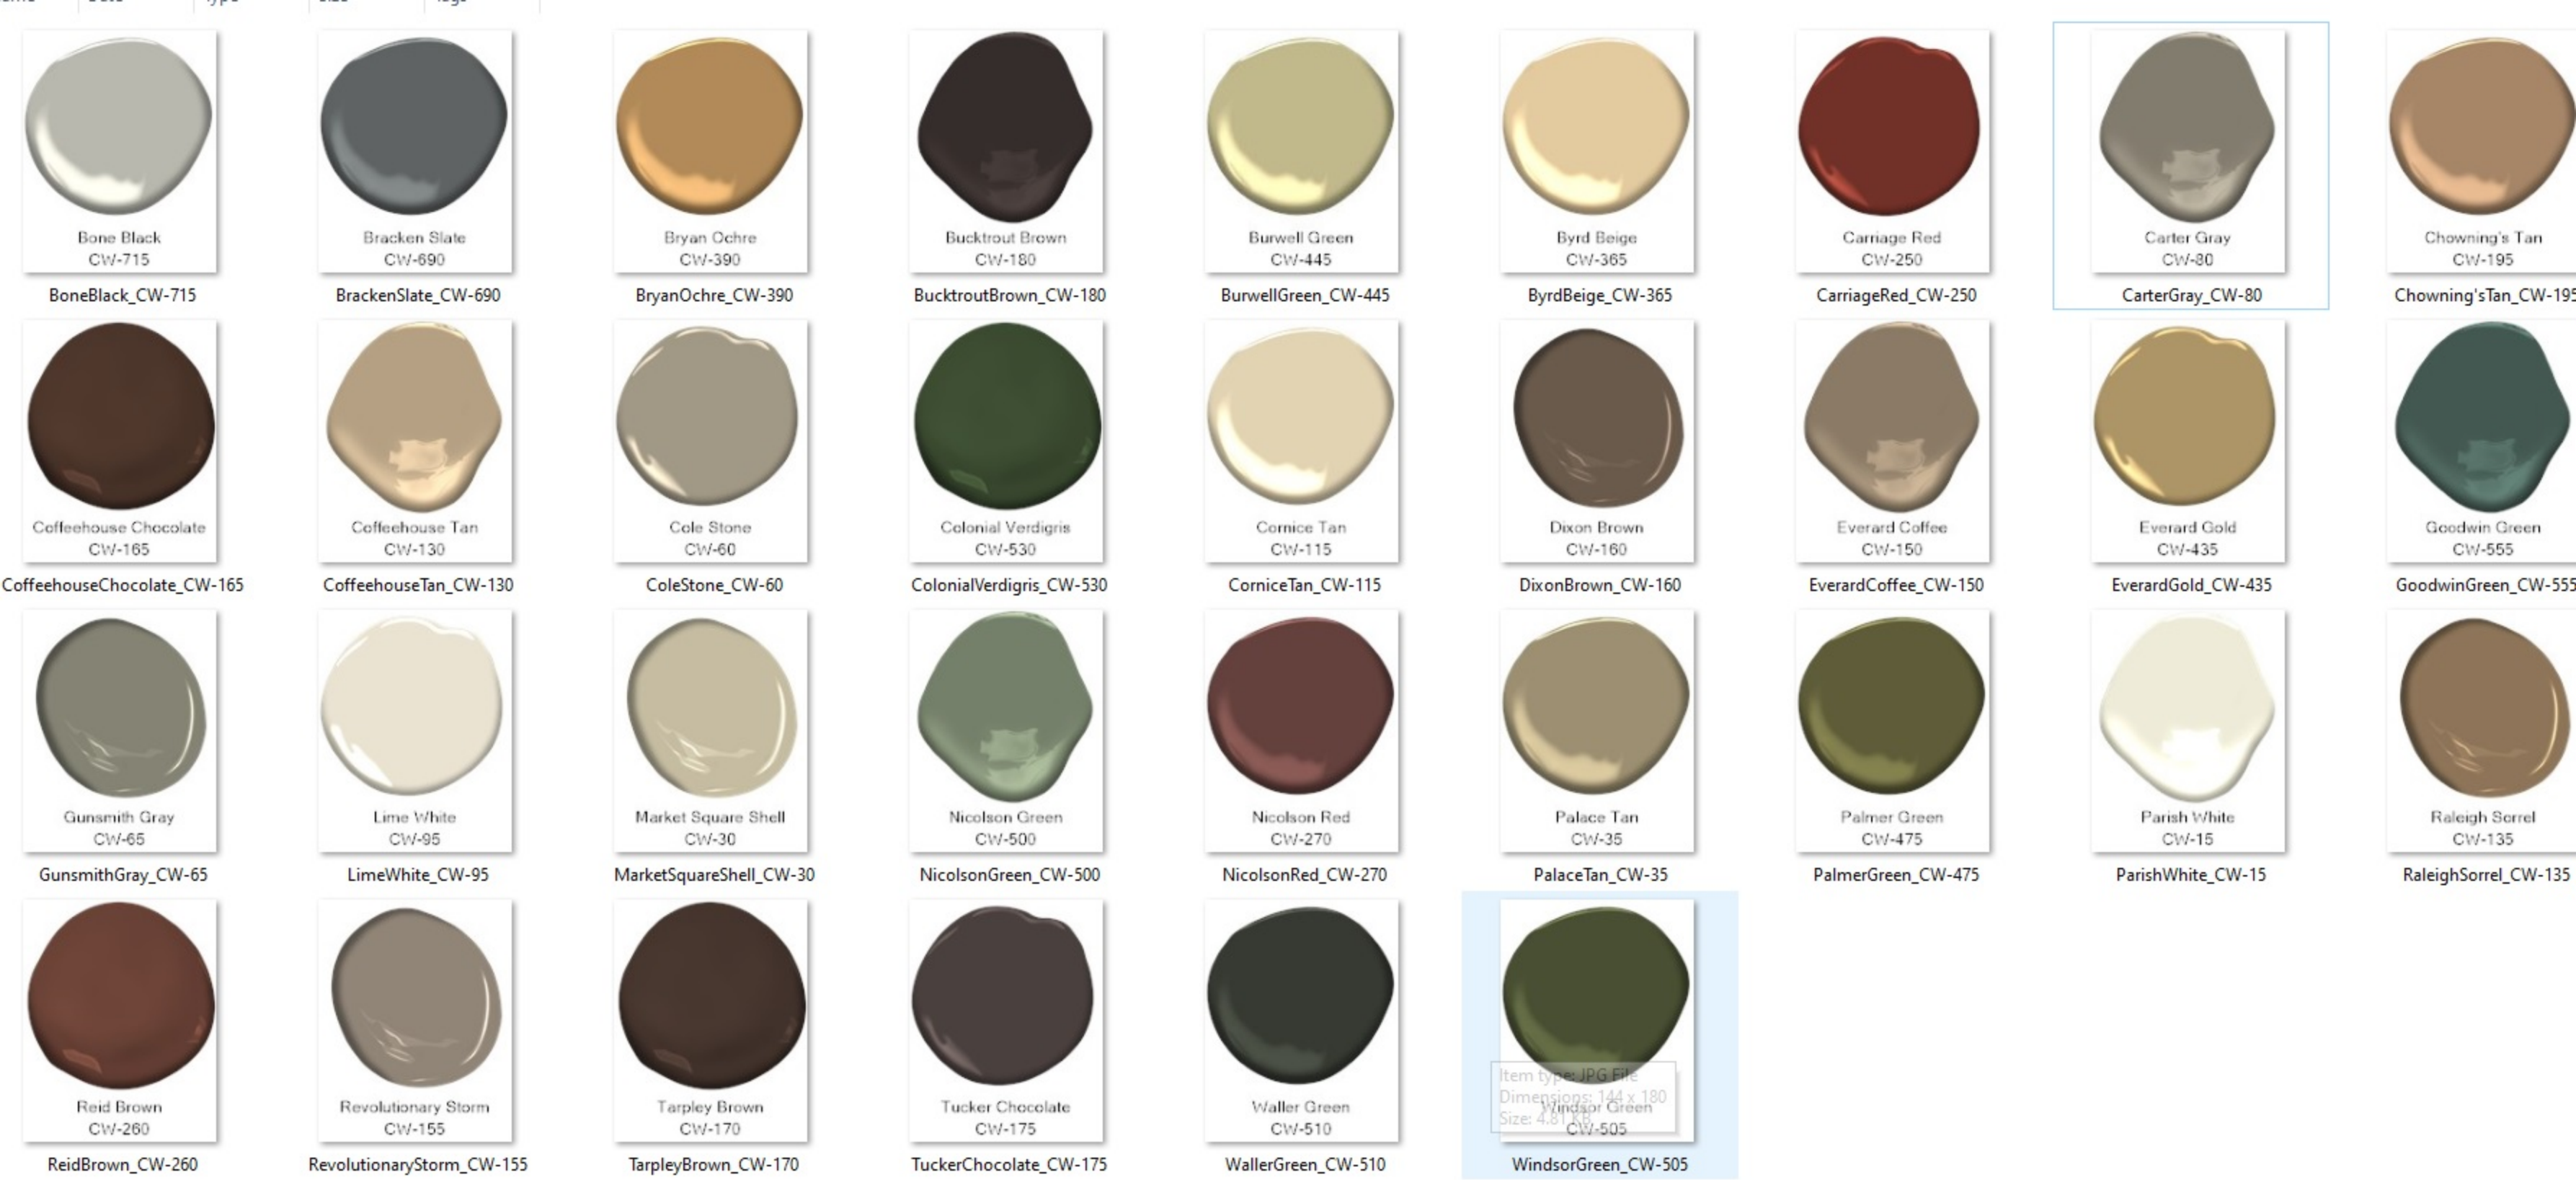

To simplify the selection process for homeowners, the ACC translated colors from the old Martin-Senour and McCormick sample cards to comparable colors in the official Benjamin Moore Williamsburg palette. Members then worked with the Benjamin Moore Architecture + Design Representative for VA & NC to obtain electronic samples of those colors. The list of the pre-approved colors and the electronic samples are on the following pages.
